

Holiday Research

Hello! I wanted to share a little secret with you: last night, I was on a special holiday research mission! Santa asked me to gather ideas for the best ways to spread cheer, and I got a bit carried away with my findings.

I promise I'll be back to my usual elf duties soon! But while I'm busy preparing for our next holiday adventure, let's make today extra fun. How about reading a holiday book, singing some festive songs, or even making decorations together? The holidays are all about sharing joy, and I can't wait to see what you create!

With excitement,
Your Elf