

OFFICIAL SANTA LETTER

Dear

Warmest wishes from the North Pole! My elves and I have taken a short break from our Christmas Eve preparations, and so I wanted to write you a little note.

I know that you have a special wish in mind for Christmas this year. But will it be waiting for you on Christmas morning? Ho ho ho! I'm afraid I can't tell you that, it would ruin the surprise!

As you know, boys and girls have to be well-behaved if they want me to visit on Christmas Eve. Have you been trying your best this year, and treating others with kindness? You and I both know the answer, but remember, my elves will still be watching right up until the 24th, so it could all change!

Don't forget, Christmas is an exciting, jolly time of the year. It's a time to enjoy being with your loved ones, and right now, you'll find it's especially easy to surprise others with kindness. Why not find your own way to spread the festive joy, and make old Santa proud?

Merry Christmas! Santa
